To Whom It May Concern:

It is with great pleasure that I write this letter of recommendation for Jordyn Bradley. She is an outstanding young woman that I have had the opportunity to work with over the past years. In all situations, Jordyn has proven to be a respectful individual who understands the importance of education, helping those in need, and family. Industrious and caring parents have fostered this attitude.

During the past year, I have had the opportunity to watch Jordyn grow. She is very talented. She has shown desire, effort, and commitment in all that she has attempted to achieve. She has the necessary personal characteristics such as integrity, honesty, and courage to get the job done. She embraces challenges. I can attest to her abilities when the going gets tough. Jordyn is an innovative self-starter, who rarely needs supervision. She is punctual and typically exceeds expectations.

Jordyn's grades are evidence of her obvious abilities. She cares about the quality of her work and has been dedicated to improving herself every day. She is bright, articulate, and always genuinely pleasant. Her SAT scores are a result of her relentless hard work. With such character, she is definitely bound for success.

Jordyn is an active participant in many extra curricular activities. Theater, NHS, and Interact are among numerous organizations that she finds leadership rolls. She is also actively involved with our Life Skills Program. She has received many awards and public attention for her work with these groups. Like any good leader, her accomplishments have come second to the success of the group. She cares about others and inspires those around her to excel.

I am sure Jordyn will perform to the highest expected level that any person would demand. Her best qualities are her innate personality, mixed with leadership abilities, and a winning spirit that comes from being motivated, dedicated, and determined. Finally, let me unequivocally state my strong recommendation for Jordyn. If you have any questions or need more information, I will be happy to talk to you. Please call me or email me at the address mentioned above.

Sincerely,
